

DECEMBER & JANUARY NEWS

The days grow shorter and cultures around the world begin to celebrate light: stars and candles everywhere for Christmas, for Kwanzaa, for Hanukkah and more; and, believe it or not... YES, the end of the year 2008 is just around the corner.

Children in our class have kept working with much enthusiasm, experiencing and learning new things each day. We have some students getting ready to begin to read short vowel books and work on single digit addition. Others are finishing their continents map and continuing learning letters and sounds. In our Art area we have been working to decorate our classrooms with snowflakes and winter chains. Good for all of them and their hard work!! As we keep moving through our school year we will continue striving for the best education and foundation your child can receive.

Winter is already here and sharing with us the best of it. Therefore, it is very important that students are dressed appropriately for the weather. We will be outside enjoying the snow, so we ask that your child be ready for outdoor fun. We appreciate your cooperation and thank you in advance!

Children are looking forward to celebrating the diversity of the Winter Celebrations and sharing with everyone a little of the holiday cheer!
